BERLIN GETS TASTE OF BRITISH BOMBS

German Warplanes Fail To Pierce London Defences

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON
British United Press. War Experts
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
LAST night's British air raid over Berlin must be interpreted as a warning to the Germans to stop bombing London civilian areas. The British planes, by penetrating the inner defenses of the German capital, despite two hours of intensive anti-aircraft fire, demonstrated their ability to bomb central Berlin at will if the Germans wish to continue challenging London to an air holocaust.

Dropping leaflets instead of bombs over Berlin's residential quarters, including the residence of Hitler himself, the British formed the German people of the lack of protection given them by their air defense. Only armament factories in the outskirts of Berlin actually were attacked, while the lives and property of civilians were spared.

Berlin reports say the dropping of the British planes was heard plainly over the center of the city, but German searchlights failed to find the raiders in the sky. That is to say the elaborate German protective device for making Berlin safe failed to do so. British restraint alone prevented duplication in Berlin of damage done to London's civilian population by the Germans.

EFFECTIVE RETALIATION

If Hitler does not heed this warning it has been demonstrated that the British can take

Berliners Huddle In Air-Raid Shelters As R.A.F. Strikes Blow

MENNONITES, DOUKHOBORS NOT EXEMPT

Special Consideration To Be Given, However, On War Service

By R. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—No exemption will be granted to Mennonites and Doukhobors in Western Canada under war service regulations to be announced Tuesday. It is understood, but these groups will receive special consideration in view of pledges made by the Canadian government when the original settlers arrived in this country.

All bona fide Mennonites and Doukhobors will be placed in a special category entitled to indefinite postponement of military duty. This will be provided in regulations for calling up classes for compulsory army training.

TWO CATEGORIES

All other citizens eligible for duty under the War Services Act will be divided into two categories, immediate and postponed. The postponed group will contain men urgently needed for service in civilian occupations, and special arrangements will be made to train them in the elements of warfare.

Three-member local, or divisional, registration boards will be announced Tuesday and they will draw up the postponed lists. The boards will administer territory roughly the same as military districts.

Individual names will not be drawn under the Canadian compulsory service law. Men will be called by classes, starting with single men

SHORT VISITS TO U.S. NEED NO VISAS NOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—New regulations simplifying entrance of temporary visitors and border-crossing commuters to the United States, issued at Washington yesterday, were explained today at the U.S. legation here as follows:

1. Beginning tomorrow identification cards will be issued to commuters who cross the border daily and to Canadians contemplating visits of less than 20 days.

2. The cards will substitute for non-immigration visas formerly required of visitors.

3. Canadian passports will still be required.

4. Holders of identification cards will not be formally questioned and fingerprinted as are all alien residents of the United States.

The new regulations were described at the legation as "designed to simplify the situation" with regard to the border, and at the same time establishing United States control. The Canadian legation is the border duty for the Canadian government.

The issuance of cards will enable the U.S. government to deal with visitors with less interference with them than when a visa is required.

The cards will be issued by an immigration official or U.S. consul. There is no charge for the cards, issuance of which will be "a matter of five or 10 minutes."

German Arms and Munitions Factories Are Blasted—54 Raiding Planes Shot Down Over Britain Sunday

By JOE ALEX MORRIS

British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

Great Britain and Germany traded stunning air blows last night and early today in what reports from both sides indicated was one of the heaviest nights of aerial warfare since the start of the attack on Britain.

Waves of British planes carried the war to Berlin in the hours after midnight, blasting at arms and munitions factories in the German capital. Berliners huddled in air raid shelters for three hours and one minute while the din of what seemed to be every anti-aircraft gun in the city roared into action against the British airmen.

Official Berlin reports scouted the idea that damage had been done, claiming that only one bomb, an incendiary, was dropped on a flower nursery. But veterans of bomb attacks on other European capitals said they heard thunderous explosions amid the crash of A.A. guns which sounded like high explosive bombs.

Important Nazi Objectives Attacked

At London, the air ministry said that the Berlin attack was directed against the great munitions plants which feed the German war machine. The announcement said the raid was one of a series in which important objectives in northwest Germany and the heavily industrialized Ruhr were attacked.

Whatever the damage caused by the Berlin attack it brought the sound and feel of warfare to the German capital more vividly than ever before. The British planes, dropped over the centre of the city and the sound of their motors could be heard above Adolf Hitler's chancellery, the foreign ministry, the propaganda ministry and other government buildings.

Anti-aircraft batteries emblazoned on the roof of structures in this vicinity set up a terrific din and were reported to have shot down one British plane. Propaganda leaflets were dropped by some of the raiders and incendiary bombs were said in non-official reports to have fallen in two suburbs. The war in bomb-spattered Britain was equally intense.

Night Raiding On Major Scale

The Germans, for the first time, appeared to be going into night raiding on a major scale.

A savage assault was made on a Midlands town which German reports identified as Birmingham. London admitted that the Midlands raid was the severest of the war and that two "industrial" establishments suffered some damage. It said that civilian casualties were inflicted along with substantial damage to civilian property. The German attack on this city lasted several hours.

Other German bombers pounded away at a northeast coastal city all night long. Casualties and damage were considerable.

A third target of German attack was a southeast town where 50 casualties, killed and wounded, were reported. Eight bombs fell on the town, some of them of the screaming type.

London, too, had night alarms. One came at 10:30 p.m. and lasted 30 minutes. The other was a 10-minute alarm at 12:30 a.m.

NEITHER MAJOR AFFAIRS
Neither of the London raids were major affairs. The first attack was on the outskirts of the city and no damage was done. The second was marked by the dropping of parachute flares and some incendiary bombs.

The first phase of the attack on Berlin has been interpreted to make a point in the German government's effort to demand rapid reparations.

"BOOTLICKER" SAYS SPEAKER OF LINDBERGH

Henry Ford Included In Castigation Broadcast By U.S. Playwright

By LYLE C. WILSON

British United Press. Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Henry Ford and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh were described as "bootlickers of Hitler" by Robert E. Sherwood, American playwright who twice has won the Pulitzer prize, in a radio address telephoned from here to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation last night.

Sherwood's address, which he said was designed to "tell the world that the voice of our country is not expressed by Lindbergh or other bootlickers of Hitler," was recorded for rebroadcast to the entire British Empire over the British Broadcasting Corporation. The speech was also broadcast by radio stations in the United States.

Mr. Ford and Lindbergh are the "outstanding exponents of what I and many other Americans must consider a tragic point of view," the playwright said. "The voice of our country is expressed truly and eloquently by President Roosevelt who by his other great American political leader, the Republican candidate for president, Wendell Willkie."

ALREADY AT WAR

Sherwood said that "We Americans are rapidly awakening to the fact that we are already at war for Hitler and his allies are at war with all men who believe in liberty and democracy and justice."

He condemned Ford as a "worshipper of the machine." He charged that the industrialist approved of the Nazi German industrial system "with its laborers who have to work to organize or even to speak no better as he for Hitler and his allies are at war with all men who believe in liberty and democracy and justice."

Sherwood said Lindbergh "is a man spiritually dominated by Nazism and that in order to avoid war with the totalitarian states we must make friends with them as they make friends with us."

U.S. FLOODED WITH FASCIST AGENTS: DIES

Investigator Will Seek Law Making Foreign Bodies Illegal

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Representative Martin Dies, declaring that many German Americans were being compelled to help disseminate Nazi propaganda here through fear for their relatives abroad, announced today that he would seek enactment of a law forbidding the operation of any foreign-controlled organization in the United States.

Dies, chairman of a House of Representatives committee investigating subversive activities, said he would introduce legislation "defining evidence" that the country was being flooded with Nazi propaganda sent free through U.S. mails.

Dies, who began a series of private hearings in New York this afternoon, said he was convinced the axis powers had set up a central agency in Europe to direct the flow of propaganda in the United States.

NOT SYMPATHETIC

Not all of the recipients of the mail are sympathetic toward the Nazi cause, he said, but some have been obtained from relatives in Europe, sometimes forcibly, and they fear for the safety of these relatives if they do not cooperate.

"I think these people are entitled to have the American government make a protest in Italy and Germany against this form of blackmail," Dies said.

During the committee's recent hearings on the Pacific coast, Dies said, it was ascertained that "10 per cent of the Italian population of San Francisco were open Fascists."

"It was a significant thing," he added, "that of the 10 per cent the majority were employed in key industries."

ACTS OF SABOTAGE

Tangiers, he said, indicated there had been acts of sabotage in airplane factories in San Francisco. There was evidence that 600 people were suspected of being German agents.

There is suspicion in Kansas City, he said, that a former member of the Communist Central Committee had been using his position to help the operation of an important factory in the city.

The charge was dismissed.

RIVERMAN FEARED DROWNED AFTER CANOE IS FOUND

Discovery of an upturned canoe on the waters of the Bear River 20 miles north of Fort Norman gives rise to the fear that Russell Bertrand, a Canadian, has been drowned.

The discovery of the canoe, which was found by a Canadian trapper, is a dramatic confirmation of the report that Bertrand had been seen in the area.

The upturned canoe was sighted Sunday by the crew of a Northern Transportation Co. boat, traveling to Fort Norman. Sunday night a St. Martin's boat of the company was informed of the find.

The boat was informed of the find and was told that Bertrand had been seen in the area.

Two Waves Of Nazi Bombers Turned Back

Dover and Folkestone Are Subjected To A Savage Attack By Enemy Raiders—37 Planes Are Shot Down

LONDON, Aug. 26.—German warplanes failed today in an attempt again to pierce London's defenses, but massed Nazi raiders smashed at a 20-mile stretch of the south-coast and showered bombs also on a wide area inland.

Two big waves of German bombers headed toward the capital were turned off by British fighters in a 10-minute battle in the clouds about 20,000 feet over the southeast coast.

Machine-gun and cannon fire of Messerschmitt fighters escorting the bombers died away as the Germans made for home without breaking through, at least three of their planes falling as the battle's toll.

Another Eight Nazis Shot Down

Later reports said another eight planes were shot down over the southeast area in a late afternoon battle, making the day's total 37 so far. Fifteen British planes were lost.

An air raid alarm earlier sent Londoners underground for the sixth time since Saturday, but the Metropolitan area was unscathed.

DOVER, Aug. 26.—British fighter planes tackled three powerful German squadrons of bombers and fighters high in the sunny sky today in one of the fiercest dog fights yet seen from the channel cliffs.

The German formations swept out of the sun and raced inland where the detonation of their heavy bombs could be heard.

British fighters were sitting up in the sky waiting for the attack. From the ground we could see the planes whirling and diving like tiny silver specks.

Hundreds of bullets and shell fragments spattered the streets of the town as the dogfight progressed and two German planes were seen to crash.

One German plane was reported to have crashed into the sea some distance from the coast. A German Messerschmitt dove from the clouds and after a long burst from front for the store built of granite and stainless steel. This will provide larger and more adequate display windows.

The modernization program will include the sales space in the store as a sales floor will be constructed to the basement as well as the ground floor.

Plans call for the completion of the store front and the stock room by October 15, the remainder of the program being completed next April. The sales floor in the basement will be finished about January 15.

DOUBLE STAFF

The extensive of the premises will call for the doubling of the sales staff, it was reported.

Manager Swingle announced Monday that increasingly brighter business prospects had resulted in the company's decision to modernize the store. "The company has enjoyed excellent patronage from the Edmonton and district shopping public and in view of the city's outstanding business future we have decided to expand our premises," Mr. Swingle said.

"When completed we will be in an even better position than we are now to offer citizens of Edmonton and Northern Alberta excellent shopping facilities."

"I would like to mention particularly our new lunch counter, this attractive branch of the store business will give fast service to busy business people and shoppers and no expense is being spared to give diners the best possible accommodation," he said.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Mr. Swingle further stressed that business will be carried on as usual during the alterations. "The work will not interfere with normal trade and everything possible is being done for the convenience of the shopping public while construction is proceeding," he said.

Mr. Kulmwater will remain in Edmonton until the construction has been completed.

FREE FRENCH FORM PART OF BRITISH ARMY

SOMEWHERE IN THE SUZ CANAL ZONE

French soldiers—men who left France's colonies to join Britain's Mediterranean forces against Italy after the military collapse of France—formally became a part of the British army in the Middle East Sunday.

The trained, fully-equipped troops, wearing British uniforms but French insignia, received their regimental colors on a green parade ground.

Newspapers visiting the training camp of the French soldiers found them in excellent spirits. "The men here were eager for an opportunity to get into active combat," French soldiers were told the same day as their British comrades-in-arms.

War Of The Spirit

Defence Minister Ralston's speech at Toronto in which he stated that this war is more of an attack on the spirit than on the body contains a truth towards which most Canadians have been floundering for some months and which had not yet found adequate expression.

Possibly the most frustrating feature of the present struggle has been the inability of our people to understand the real point toward which the Germans have been driving.

It has been easy, of course, to perceive the material aims of Hitler. All of us are able to appreciate the physical consequences of conquest. It is simple to comprehend that Hitler wants to rule the world. It is painfully simple to comprehend the fate of freedom should he succeed in doing it.

But why does he want to rule the world? What restless and diabolical source gives rise to this insatiable lust for authority, cruelty and destruction?

In short, we are aware of the physical significance of the war. What, then, is the spiritual significance of it?

It may be profitable to consider a few things we have forgotten during the past twenty years. After the last war, we were sure we had laid the spectre of conflict forever. We became militant pacifists.
We made a religion of peace, forgetting that nowhere had it ever been promised that the kingdom of heaven would be brought about on this earth or otherwise than in the world to come.

Therefore we created a number of spiritual illusions about ourselves and our circumstances and set ourselves up as priests of this new creed which blandly laid down the principle that we were a superior people who could build a warless world on the foundation of that very superiority.

We grew smug in our apocryphal security.
And when a man or a race grows smug he or it gets into a spiritual coma which requires a little tormenting and a little prodding to dissipate.

We are getting that prodding and that torment now. We may not emerge from it a richer people. But we will emerge from it a more sane, wholesome and spiritually refurbished people.

Mr. Ralston does well to speak of the spiritual elements involved in this war.

Intolerance

Nowhere has the corroding influence of Nazism been more evident than in those anti-Semitic demonstrations just reported from Paris.

Wherever the avalanche gives, it is followed by degradation, economic wanton barbarism and intolerance. Surely a political doctrine so full of the malignancies to which the human mind is subject must be destroyed at length by the very power of its own venom.

It is not necessary to put forward any argument for the Jews.

A race which has been permitted by Providence to keep intact longer than any other race and which was chosen to incorporate the Almighty himself does not need to rely on the approbation of Adolf Hitler for its continued existence.

Pan-American Unity

In their increasing desire to draw closer to each other, the British Empire and the United States have apparently chosen Canada to be the catalytic agent whereby this partial fusion is to be effected.

The machinery through which Canada will work towards this end, so we are told, is the Pan-American Union which is composed of the United States and the other American republics.

Canada, as the conjuncture goes, is to be invited to join this international organization and thus become the Empire's representative in its councils.

It would be easy and perhaps natural for Canadians to resent this belated invitation to join a body which hitherto has high-mindedly pursued its way without giving any evidence of being aware of Canada's existence. But the invitation, if indeed, there be one, will imply such a compliment to both Canada and the Empire that this country cannot very well refuse.

Considerable effort and ingenuity will be required to make Canada eligible under the Union's constitution. Hitherto, member nations have been limited specifically to American "republics."
This will have to be changed to render a "kingdom" admissible. For, by the Statute of Westminster, Canada is a kingdom.

That it should appear that this effort will be made is a genuine tribute to the prestige and power of the British Empire.
It will be, in other words, a testimonial on the part of the whole western hemisphere to the belief of that hemisphere that Britain and her Empire are of essential importance to the peace of the world and that the Empire is bound to win this present war.

We could well understand such an expression of confidence and opinion coming from the United States alone because American ideals are our ideals.
And if Britain's Democracy were wiped out, American Democracy would be in greatest jeopardy.

But when the republics of South America, some of which have played, at least, with the fascist idea, inferentially seek the association of Canada and indirectly the association of the Empire, the compliment and the trust are high.

If present speculation calls the true turn of events, Canada will join with pleasure the efforts of a body with which she should have been connected years ago. She will join, if asked, with all the more pleasure since the invitation is based on a full and complete confidence in the victory of the Empire and those ways of life for which the British Empire stands.

Fingerprinting Aliens

Beginning tomorrow, the United States will require all aliens entering its borders to leave samples of their fingerprints with qualified officials. This order includes Canadians.

Far from taking offense at this new rule, this country should emulate it and even enlarge on it. Fingerprinting is the most scientific means of identification.

In a time of emergency, such as war time, it would be useful for the authorities to have the prints of every individual in Canada.

Indeed, it would not have been amiss to have made fingerprinting a part of the procedure of national registration.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWDER

The Dominion government is keeping a watchful eye to see that bakers don't raise the price of bread during the war period. Two weeks ago Vancouver bakers pushed the price up half a cent. At once an order came from Ottawa which put back the price. Vancouver has about the dearest bread in Canada.

O FOR BREAD: Something might be done to improve the quality of bread.
The wrapped loaf is introduced as a sanitary precaution, is often used to hold excess moisture. Some of the loaves I've handled are soggy with water and turn mouldy within a week. "Soft" excesses and the bread at 6 cents a pound must be a temptation.

Best bread I tasted on my recent three weeks' crusade up the coast was made by a bachelor in the even of a kitchen stove. He sold a fourpound loaf for 20 cents, of bread that with bread my crew ate it with enjoyment, buttered or toasted, and asked for more. I wish I had some of it in the house now.

The British government has taken steps to give its people a new kind of white bread, calculated to help them overcome the strain and tired of war. Food reformers have long assailed the white loaf, as being deficient in essential food qualities through the removal of the bran and the addition of the white flour.

NEW WAR BREAD: Earl Bessborough, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Food, describing the new bread to the House of Commons, said it will prove revolutionary from the nutritional standpoint. It is a white bread, fortified by addition of Vitamin B1 and a small quantity of calcium salt.

A couple of years ago I wrote for this column a paragraph about the high quality bread served to the occupants of the monkey house at the London Zoo. Finding that the orange-outage period under the hardships of winter fog, a special fortified bread was prepared for them.
Fed on it, the creatures thrive during the London rain and fog. But the Zoo authorities would not release the formula for the benefit of the London humans, who continued to develop pulmonary complaints and die during the rain and fog.

The new vitaminized bread is probably the "monkey bread," or a modification of it.

Chalk that up as one of the advances wrought through war. The bread sold at the same price as ordinary bread—which is about half the price of bread in Canada. That's a better war result than under the Nazis in France, where the bread was so scarce that it was rationed.
The popular bread, however, is not the best and makes it a punishable offence to sell bread before it is 24 hours old.

Most expensive way to kill a pig, a cow or a hen is to bomb it with high explosive from an airplane. Malcolm MacDonald, British Minister of Health, has given some statistics on German bombing. Every German bomb dropped in open country has taken an average toll of 1 of a hen, 1 of a pig, 1 of a cow and 1 of a sheep.

HENS RUN WHEN 1006 of a cow and 9007 of BOMBERS COME: A rabbit, Nazis have better bombs than any other nation.

English bombs killed one person and injured three.
Terrible as an aerial bombing may be, it is not the devastating annihilating thing that H. G.
Wells and some of the German military writers thought it would be. The Spanish, Italian and civilian populations found that out, and would undoubtedly have beaten the Fascists, aided by air fleets and artillery sent by Hitler and Mussolini, had the Spanish government not been so weak.

Zenobia been added by the democracies. There'd probably have been no pellot at Munich, no invasion of Poland, and no world war today if the British government had been as strong with which to defend itself.

All the new inventions are not for wholesale killings in war. One that must appeal to many

Old German Custom

Twenty-five years ago The Ottawa Journal carried the story of a message of the Kaiser to his sister, the Queen of Greece, that he had paralyzed Russia for many months to come and was on the eve of delivering a mass blow which would make all Europe "tremble." Didn't Europe get something right down the same alley this week, from a similar source—St. Catherine's

Name of Note

Among the newer British destroyers is one bearing a name familiar throughout the world—H.M.S. Kipling.

The Kipling was laid down on October 20, 1937, on the eve of the anniversary of Trafalgar.
She was named by Mrs. Bambridge, daughter of Rudyard Kipling. Her builder, it may be noted, had the contract for the first destroyers ever built, these being the Havock and the Hornet, ordered by the Admiralty in 1892. The Havock and the Hornet were vessels of 240 tons displacement, insignificant in comparison with the Kipling's displacement of 1,400 tons.

The new destroyer's armament comprises six 4.7-inch and six 2.9-inch guns, with ten 21-inch torpedo tubes. She is designed to be capable of speed of 36 knots. H.M.S. Jaguar, the Kipling's sister ship, is identical in appearance.
Two white bands around the funnel indicate the floodlights to which the ship belongs—Frederick

Quebec Repudiates Houde

It is notable that the intervention of Mayor Houde of Montreal has been received with complete calmness by the people of Quebec. If we may judge by the comment of the French-Canadian press, the general attitude is that Mr.
Houde deserved what he got for defying the law which was made by the parliament of Canada for the defense of the nation.

This is undoubtedly a hopeful portent in the unity of Canada for the purposes of the war. It may even be far more than that, and may later be seen as a historical marker, a signpost pointing the way to a new understanding between the two races which have built the Canadian tradition.

There is no doubt that Mayor Houde tried to exploit the ancient prejudice of Quebec against conscription, and there is no doubt that he failed. It is a pity that he was a disturbance to the peace of the province, and damaged attempt to identify national registration with out-and-out military conscription of the man power of Canada.

Probably it is too much to say that the repudiation of the attempt means that French Canada has come generally all the way round to the acceptance of out-and-out conscription.

But it is notable that comment upon the question of conscription, even in the most great city in Canada, among the organs of the language and tradition to which he belongs, unanimously affirms the patriotic duty of all Canadians to respect the common law of Canada.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Twenty-five years ago today (Aug. 26, 1915) Sir Robert Borden sailed from Liverpool for New York on the Adriatic. He was returning to Canada a disaffected man, both with the manner in which the British Empire was taking the war and of the slackness in munitions making. He had the satisfaction that the steamship was well served by three destroyers—the British navy was on the alert, then as now—and the journey was ended without mishap or interference from the enemy.

His first act in New York was to call upon D.
A. Thomas, the Welsh M.P. and coal magnate, who was the British purchasing agent in the United States, and the prime minister's appointed freely. "I informed him that the British government might have made up their minds as to what they want, that the essential question was adequate supply and that the lack of it was an entirely secondary consideration." Thereafter there was an improvement in the situation, but it was a good 12 months before the supply was enough.

Sir Robert held that during the passage on the Adriatic was a Dr. White of Philadelphia, an intimate friend of Sir William Osler and of Frederick Banting, and a strong anti-German.
While in England, Sir Robert had presented him with several cases of emphysema, of which a considerable number had not been used and had been brought on board the Adriatic.
He said he did not wish to take him with him, and then begged our permission to give a treat that never varied from night to night. "To Hell with the Kaiser!"

When Sir Robert Oliver, Sir Robert sailed on Sir William's Louisa and he had the result of his mission to England. The Liberal leader "second much improved, looked very thoughtful, and finally said, 'I'm afraid this will be a very long war.'"

LINKS OF LOVE

One of the recent successful novels opens with a dramatic first chapter, the characters of which do not reappear until the end of the book.
One must read the whole story to get the connection. So, at first reading, one misses the relationship between the aged John's beautiful daughter and his devotion to Christ's prophecy for our age and cause. All the love that we may display for the world and the needs rise from that supreme act of love, when the Son of God hung on the accursed tree for the sake of man, and the world, and the soul may have society; only a Saviour, willing to go the limit of the cross, can do so. Only incarnate love can redeem the world.

In sorrow and self-condemnation we look upon Calvary, where the dear Son of Father, offered up his life for our salvation. Help us to walk love's way, to begin at the cross. Amen.

Normally, the first inning of a game is one of those things that make baseball a little different and more surprising than any other sport.

My own idea is that it all started when the Stampeders blasted eight runs off Foster in the first two innings. The Ponoka club figured it had the game in the bag and got a bit careless. By the same token the Dodgers figured the game was lost and they relaxed.

Yesterday's game was a shocking about is witnessed up and down the line. The Stampeders' lineup was superb with Popovich catching and Burns.

This was the third game of the best of five series for the championship of the Central Alberta Baseball League. Yesterday's victory gives the Stampeders two wins against the Dodgers' one. The fourth game will be played at Renfrew Park in Edmonton on Tuesday at 6:00 p.m.

Yesterday's game, which was played in a rain-soaked field, was a thrilling contest. The Stampeders took the lead in the first inning, 1-0, and held it until the last inning.

It was a chilling memory for the Stampeders when they lost the first game of the series to the Dodgers. The game was played in a rain-soaked field and the Stampeders were out of sync.
